

AKHBAAR (News), Jan. 25, 1984

Vol. IV - No. 248

Take 3

Islamic Republic: Voice and Vision should include religious...contd.

Ayatollah Moossavi Ardebili, in this meeting, provided guidelines as to the sensitivity of the Voice and Vision's job, the necessity to avoid exercising personal taste in programmes and the heavy responsibility of Voice and Vision employees.

He told the visitors: "You are holding a power centre in your hands. You ought to consider every aspect...Your responsibility is quite ponderous. You should not broadcast programmes of your choice. The Voice and Vision should first and foremost include religious and Islamic matters in its programmes. You are serving this country and not its guardians. The country neither belongs to you nor me. Everything in this country belongs to everybody. For the purpose of advancing this country certain affairs are entrusted to me and some to you. It is our obligation to run our affairs in the way it is required..."

The head of the Supreme Court concluded by recommending the Voice and Vision employees to acquire more available expertise demanded by their organisation. He also praised and thanked all those in the Voice and Vision who he said were striving to mirror the reports and events of the Islamic Republic and the fruits of the Islamic revolution.

Islamic Republic: Foreign minister stresses resolution of Islamic struggle against Zionist occupiers

Iran - Hojatoleslam Sayed (Muhammad) Khatami, a knowledgeable Shiite from Lebanon, visited Dr. Velayati, the foreign minister, yesterday afternoon. At the meeting Hojatoleslam Khatami explained the situation of Lebanon and that of the Shi'ites there.

Dr. Velayati in a speech explained the deepened relations of the Shi'ites of Lebanon and the Islamic revolution of Iran before and after the victory of the Islamic revolution. He also stressed the necessity of escalating the Islamic struggle against the Zionist and American occupiers and their allies and called for employing all forces and possibilities to serve the movement of the Islamic revolution in Lebanon and the struggle against enemies of Islam.

Islamic Republic: Secretaries of Islamic Association of Academics met Maglis speaker

Secretaries of the Islamic Association of Academics met the Islamic Maglis Speaker, Hojatoleslam Murtaza Rafsanjani, yesterday afternoon and briefed him on the running of universities and particularly the positive changes brought to the management system.

They told the Maglis speaker: "Although the changes have been minor but they illustrate a positive step toward the establishment of a consolidated management. The committed academic staff, after the recent speech by the president who said the university management will have the complete authority of a scientist and pious manager, have become more hopeful and are rendering services more energetically." They also explained changes in the curriculum and duration of university courses. They concluded by recommending the Islamic Maglis speaker to arrange so that the existing faculty in the management of universities be eliminated.

60X

AKHBAAR (News), Feb. 5, 1984

Take 10

In Brief:

-- Following the threat made by the Iraqi Zionist regime about its intention to carry out missile and air raids against eleven Iranian cities, U.N. to condemn that impudent threat and to carry out its responsibility in preventing that atrocious move.

-- Radio 2pm
renewed bombing of residential areas of our country, the foreign guests of the Saddam regime. They emphasized: "Those threats demonstrate the helplessness and inability of the Iraqi Ba'athist regime in the last days of its life in the despatch us to the war fronts and the threatened cities for assisting our Muslim Iranian brothers and sisters so that we would sacrifice our blood for Islam... We ask news agencies of the world, especially those of Islamic countries, and the human right organisations to condemn atrocities of Saddam's Ba'athist regime against Muslim and innocent people of Iran. We strenuously condemn news agencies of Islamic countries which despite all those barbarianism and atrocities of Saddam have chosen to remain silent..."

-- Sayed (Muhammad) Khatami, a Lebanese cleric scholar, was received in audience by Imam Khomeini, the leader of the revolution and founder of the Islamic Republic of Iran, this morning.

-- Radio 2pm
The Supreme Judicial Council met this morning chaired by Mr. Moossavi Ardebili, the head of the Supreme Court...
First Mr. Moqtada'i gave a report about his trip to Fars province...
Mr. Sane'i (the prosecutor-general) gave a report about the measures adopted at the Revolutionary Prosecutor Office and some decisions were made.
Then the council discussed problems of the revolutionary prosecutor offices of Ahvaz and Mianeh.
Talks were held also about forming a general board to start up the Bar Association....

Islamic Republic (Feb. 4): Grand Ayatollah Golpaygani asks foreign guests not to be nonchalant toward's destiny of oppressed nations

Foreign guests who are currently in Iran to take part in celebrations of the fifth anniversary of the victory of the Islamic revolution, separately visited Grand Ayatollah Golpaygani and Ayatollah Meshkini in Qom, yesterday.

Addressing a group of more than 300 foreign scholars and researchers, Grand Ayatollah Golpaygani asked foreign guests to recount to their people their observations and the innocence of the Islamic Republic upon their return to their countries, and explain the resistance and selflessness displayed by the Muslim nation of Iran in their struggle against world imperialism....

According to this report, the foreign guests then listened to Ayatollah Meshkini. In a speech delivered in Arabic, the ayatollah analysed the Islamic motives which inspired the people of Iran and which eventually led to the

61X